

MORNING APPEAL.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1877

Last evening a special meeting of the Board of City Trustees was held at the City Hall. The following members were present: J. A. St. Clair, President pro tem, H. T. Denning and Jacob Beam. The object of this meeting was to receive the District Attorney's opinion whether it would be advisable to commence action against the several ranchers in King's canyon for the water which they are withholding from the city. The city requiring it to carry off the filth and garbage in the sewers, and for the fire cisterns. The District Attorney's opinion was read and he believes that the city can establish its right to a portion of the water flowing down King's canyon creek and Gregory's Canyon creek. At the meeting Mr. Wood, the fruit man, stated that he visited a large number of the taxpayers of this city, who assured him that they were willing to make good any expense that the Board might incur by litigating this water question. He stated that the people wanted their rights in this matter thoroughly tested. Mr. Webb, of the Orphans Home also remarked that the lack of water upon the ground where the Home is located, has cost the State $3,000 this year. Trustee Beam thought that some of the ranchers were irrigating sage-brush land, rather than let Carson have the water which it so much needs. After considerable argument upon the proposition as to what course it would be best to pursue to secure the rights of the city, and after listening to the opinions of learned counsel, the District Attorney was instructed to cite the ranchers to appear in court and assign cause why an injunction should not be issued against them. The Board will hold another special meeting to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, at the office of the District Attorney for the purpose of making arrangements to engage assistant counsel in this important case.

Messrs. Moore & Parker are entitled to much praise for the improvements they are making on and in the Theater Hall building. Ignoring the dull times, the proprietors are expending a considerable sum of money to make the place as attractive as possible. Mr. J. S. Dickson, artist, is engaged upon new scenery for the theater, and painters are employed upon work to give the entire interior a fresh and new appearance. The contemplated new arrangement of the seats will enable the auditorium to hold 600 people, comfortably seated. The openings for egress in case of fire are ample, and the doors open toward the street. When the work is finished the Carson Theater will, in point of comfort and elegance, be equal if not superior to any in the State.

HOPE VALLEY was represented in Carson yesterday, by Mr. J. P. Scott, the well-known dairyman. He was here on one of his frequent visits to our merchants for the purpose of disposing of his mountain made butter, than which there is none better brought to this market. Mr. Scott's home is a popular stopping place for tourists. Abe Richey, the old and experienced mountaineer, than whom none know more thoroughly the most attractive camping, hunting, and fishing places in the Sierra, is now making his headquarters at Mr. Scott's house. His services are in demand as guide to parties seeking recreation in that valley and vicinity.

A VISIT TO COLUMBUS has been made this week by Messrs. Torreyson and Hammond of this place. Of the occasion of this visit we are not informed; whether it was searching for a more promising business location on the part of Mr. Torreyson, and a more needy place for the services of a Methodist parson by Mr. Hammond; or prospecting for mines, we can only conjecture. It is probably their business and none of ours. They are expected to return to Carson to-day or to-morrow.

Hank Monk of the Lake Tahoe stage, reports that the multitude of visitors at all the hotels around Lake Tahoe is unprecedented. The hostleries are full to overflowing; there are not sufficient accommodations for all the guests that are there and coming. Many are compelled to sleep upon the floors of the hotels. This denotes a very prosperous state of affairs for the hotel keepers at the Lake.

A special train was dispatched to Reno yesterday morning with the following persons aboard, H. M. Yerington, Superintendent Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company, T. B. Storer, Secretary of the Pioneers, E. B. Rail, General T. D. Edwards. The train returned at 4 p. m. yesterday, making the distance in one hour and twenty minutes. Pretty fast traveling that is.

Mr. Frank B. Kennedy was at the Mint yesterday, remaining there only half an hour. He feels very lame and sore from the concussion received from his fall, but with the exception of that and a little nervous prostration he is all right. Mr. Kennedy will be able to resume his duties in a few days.

John L. Cary, the polite little messenger of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was yesterday afternoon severely burned about the hands, while engaged in the dangerous pursuit of playing with gunpowder. His injuries are not serious, but painful.

Senator Westcott was married to Miss Minnie E. Stanton, late of the Carson Mint, in San Francisco yesterday. The happy couple started for one of the numerous watering places immediately after the knot was tied.

The Carson wood drive was completed yesterday. Now will begin a time for heated discussions, wrangling etc, ere a settlement can be arrived at.

The Carson Guards will have a moonlight parade and street drill next Monday evening. We should be pleased to see their ranks fill up a little more.

A few of the dissatisfied Renoites were to have held another "direct railroad" meeting on Wednesday night, but the curtain was not raised on the farce as the principal performers had not committed their respective parts to memory. It is wonderful what cat's paws these people will permit the Truckee lumbermen to make of them. We would like to know what beneficial results business men of Reno would derive from a "direct" railroad. Their condition, viewing it from any standpoint, would not be improved an iota. On the contrary, Truckee would be the beneficiary and laugh in its sleeve at the simplicity of the metropolitan of Washoe county. Certainly the people of Reno cannot consistently prefer any charges against the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company of injustice or undue discrimination. The Company and its friends pay and leave thousands of dollars in Reno every month; while on the other hand, if the "direct" scheme were ever to be consummated, Truckee would derive all the pecuniary advantages which now fall to Reno, and leave Reno out in the cold. The condition of affairs would not be improved in any respect, if not made worse, for the metropolitan of Washoe county. Renoites, do not take the chestnuts out of the fire for the Truckee monkey, but stand firm and true to those who were always your friends.

A party of unnaturalized foreigners, from the tea regions of the Flowery Empire, whose fallen fortunes necessitated them to emigrate to this country, and were by force of circumstances compelled to engage in the laundry business in the rear of the Mint, yesterday afternoon engaged in an animated discussion, the subject of which was the writings of Confucius (as far as our reporter could judge). The argument and discussion waxed hot and hotter, when it was decided to settle the question at issue by flatiron, cork soles and other delicate implements of Chinese warfare, which were lying handy at the time. The hilarity was at its height, when a stream of water was directed against the belligerents, which somewhat cooled their ardor. Amid considerable jabbering (to us a strange, provincial dialect) a truce was established, and the dead and wounded, if there had been any, would have been carried from the scene of the late bloodless conflict; but, as it was, nothing had to be looked after, excepting the sad irons and other instruments used in preparing the clothes of the Mexican man for a wearable condition.

PINE NUT VALLEY is the destination of a party of hunters who left here in a two-horse rig and went as far as Cradlebaugh's ranch last evening. The company consist of Geo. H. Davis, Jr., one of the most enthusiastic sportsmen in the State, E. M. Hunt, Long King and Miles Wing. They propose to engage in the occupation of exterminating a large number of sage hens. The gentlemen comprising this party are all of them excellent shots, who will make many a sage hen bite the dust.

Mr. Isaac McConnell, the well-known broker has purchased the fast trotter, Stonewall from S. T. Swift. Mr. McConnell now has the handsomest single turn-out in the city.

Arrived per Southern stage last evening, consigned to Wells, Fargo & Co., 3 bars of bullion, valued at $5,246, from the Northern Belle mine.

Mr. R. W. Bollen is again confined to his room through illness. This gentleman has suffered much during the past four or five months.

Stocks.—The market continues mushy. Figures do not vary from Wednesday's quotations.

Police items are scarce; no arrests were made yesterday for any offenses whatever.

Parson Kelly went to Virginia yesterday.

The long procession of beautiful tableaux chariots and dense, magnificent horses, and wonderful forest animals passed through our streets. The city of streets has been filled with a living world of people. The city under canvas has been enumerated, not by numbers but by the sense. At least fifteen thousand people viewed yesterday, this the greatest show of this or any other age. Our citizens from far and near could not believe all that has been said of this grand exhibition, which appeared to be a table of Aladdin's magic. And that everything has been shown that was advertised. Everything was wonderful, actual, real, living, moving, breathing, roaring or whispering in the waters, full of life. The army of men and animals, the birds from forest and sea, the beasts from jungles, hair and bristles, all creation ransacked and everything imagination has ever pictured, or history ever chronicled, gathered under one vast canvas and presented to the eye. Not one creature omitted. And such perfect method and skillful management. See the shrewd, well balanced judgment and quick, nimble fingered dexterity of that prince of treasurers, Ben. Lusbie. No counterfeit coin or bill escapes his detection. So well do they know this that some dare to venture missing their turn at the ticket wagon to try the chance and the crowd. This treasurer handles twelve thousand tickets, and receives the money for them, in an hour, nearly four every second of time. This alone is one of the seven wonders of the world. Once within the canvas, as the Moslem desires to see Mohammed, so you desire to see Forepaugh. And here he is, a noble specimen of perfect manhood. He walks and talks like a king that has conquered and carried through to perfection this vast success. All the arrangements are admirable. Order, Heaven's first law, is observable in every department. The eating, the drinking, the sleeping, the moving, everything as regular as the course of the planets. Every visitor was taken care of, excited, satisfied, not one disappointed, and the great Forepaugh show leaves St. Joseph with twenty-five thousand in and out of the canvas to testify to and herald its truthfulness and unrivaled success by any combination either in this or any other country. Forepaugh deserved a crown, and our citizens have generously placed it on his brow.—St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette.

It is indeed a significant circumstance that whereas Sargent was Pinney's friend while the character of the latter was unknown to the community, the De Youngs and their backers have taken Pinney into the closest intimacy after his real character has been fully established. And that appears to be about the principal distinction between the two cases. See Record-Union.

Mr. Charles A. Dana, editor of the Sun, has happily reached his fifty-eighth birthday, and, from appearances, he is likely to have birthdays for many years to come. To wish that his shadow might never grow less would be superfluous, because he has no shadow and he shines for all.
